Family: Married, one toddler

Occupation: Marketing Coordinator

"I don't have time to walk into three different stores — if I can order it online in five minutes, that's a win."

Goals:

- Quickly reorder the same vitamins and baby-care products she buys every month
- Find genuine deals without wading through irrelevant promotions
- Get her order picked up same-day near her office (Click & Collect)

Frustrations:

- The homepage is cluttered with banners and blog content that get in the way of finding what she actually needs
- Hard to tell which items are "core stock" vs. "online-only marketplace" items with different delivery timelines
- No quick "reorder" button for things she buys repeatedly

Story/Scenario :

Sarah is a busy working mother who does most of her shopping online during her lunch break. She's a loyal Chemist Warehouse customer because of the prices, but she's usually buying the same handful of items — baby formula, prenatal vitamins, and sunscreen. Every time she visits the site, she has to re-search for the same products instead of simply repeating a past order, which eats into her limited free time. She wants an interface that recognises her as a returning customer and gets her to checkout fast.

Name: Ramesh Deshmukh

Age: 61

Education: Higher secondary school

Hometown: Pune, Maharashtra, India

Family: Lives with wife; son lives abroad

Occupation: Retired bank employee

✦ "My blood pressure medicine costs too much every month — if there's a cheaper option that works the same, I want it, but I need to trust it first."

Goals:

- Buy an affordable generic substitute for his branded BP medication every month
- Get medicines delivered without having to travel to a pharmacy
- Feel confident that the substitute is genuine and safe

Frustrations:

- Not very comfortable with apps that are slow to load or unclear
- Worried about ordering the "wrong" medicine since he doesn't know generic drug names
- Had a bad experience once when a replacement/refund promised by customer support didn't come through

Story/Scenario :

Ramesh is a retired, price-conscious senior citizen managing a chronic condition on a fixed pension. He was introduced to Zeno Health by his son, who told him he could save money by switching to generic medicines. Ramesh is willing to try it, but he's cautious — he needs the ordering process to be simple, needs reassurance that the substitute medicine is genuine, and gets frustrated if the app is slow or if something goes wrong with his order, since he's not confident troubleshooting technology on his own.

Sarah Mitchell — Task: "Reorder monthly vitamins & baby products via Click & Collect" Goal: Reorder her usual products and pick them up near her office on the same day
	ACTION 1: OPEN SITE & SEARCH	ACTION 2: BROWSE & COMPARE	ACTION 3: ADD TO CART	ACTION 4: CHECKOUT	ACTION 5: CLICK & COLLECT PICKUP
Task List	A. Opens Chemist Warehouse site on phone during lunch break B. Scrolls past homepage banners C. Types product name in search bar	- What are your wins? - What are you doing today? - What's blocking you from doing great work?	A. Adds vitamins to cart B. Repeats search for baby sunscreen C. Adds second item to cart	A. Selects Click & Collect option B. Chooses nearest store C. Enters payment details and confirms	A. Receives pickup-ready notification B. Drives to store on way home C. Shows order confirmation and collects items
Feeling / Adjective	Rushed	Mildly annoyed (has to re-search each time)	Efficient	Reassured	Satisfied
Improvement Opportunities	Add a persistent "quick search" that's visible without scrolling past banners	Add a "Buy Again" section showing her past orders so she doesn't need to re-search	Show a running order summary so she can confirm both items before checkout	Clearly confirm store cutoff time for same-day pickup at the point of selection	Send a proactive SMS/notification as soon as the order is ready, not just after she asks

Ramesh Deshmukh — Task: "Order a generic substitute for his monthly BP medicine" Goal: Get a trustworthy, cheaper substitute for his prescribed medicine delivered to his home
	ACTION 1: OPEN SITE /APP	ACTION 2: SEARCH MEDICINE	ACTION 3: REVIEW SUBSTITUTE	ACTION 4: PLACE ORDER	ACTION 5: TRACK & RECEIVE
Task List	A. Opens Zeno Health app B. Waits for homepage to load C. Looks for a search bar	A. Types the branded medicine name from his prescription B. Waits for generic substitute suggestions to appear	A. Reads the substitute's details B. Looks for certification/trust information C. Feels unsure whether it's safe	A. Adds item to cart B. Enters delivery address and payment C. Confirms order	A. Waits for delivery updates B. Receives medicine C. Checks if it matches what he expected
Feeling / Adjective	Uncertain (worried the app is stuck loading)	Hopeful but cautious	Anxious (needs reassurance)	Relieved	Nervous, hoping for no issues
Improvement Opportunities	Show a loading indicator so he knows the app is working, not frozen	Allow search by uploading a photo of the prescription, since he may not know the generic name	Add a clear, simple trust badge (e.g., "Pharmacist Verified," "WHO-GMP Certified") right next to the substitute	Send an immediate confirmation message summarising what was ordered, in simple language	Provide real-time delivery tracking and a simple way to report an issue directly in the app, rather than only through a helpline
